“

Not only is telling stories a great way to make abstract feelings concrete, but also the teaching and concepts are similar to the ones we use with adults... As an adult life coach, I can tell you that this kids' curriculum covers the whole development of the child....” - Samantha

Coaching Kids is Different than Coaching Adults

The reason is brain development! Children don't have the critical reasoning skills (frontal lobe development) that adults have, making the traditional question-based coaching model less effective.

Working with children requires a teaching component to lay a foundation of knowledge for coaching to be effective. Coaching stories are the key!

Using Stories to Life Coach Kids

Stories help children see mindset skills in action. This enables them to connect to their own thoughts and feelings and apply the skills to their own lives with your guidance as their coach.

Grungies, Dragons, Power Shifting, and Power Goggles™, are just a few of the terms from our coaching curriculum that give you a common language and powerful tools for coaching kids using the STORY Coaching Process.

The STORY Coaching Process is incredibly powerful in its simplicity. This step-by-step journey, with a coaching tool for each step, enables you to get results with children from the very first session.
